CRITICISM OF THE VERDICT.

Smyth Declares the Jury Might on the Evidence Have Made It Murder in the First Degree.

Dr. Henry C. F. Meyer was sentenced by Recorder Smyth in Part III. of the Court of General Sessions this morning to life imprisonment in Sing Sing for the polsoning of Ludwig Brandt. Dr. Meyer seemed to be perfectly self-composed, and took his sentence just as every habitual criminal does-as a mat-

"The verdict of the jury was very illogical. They might very properly have convicted you of murder in the first degree, by which you have sen-tenced to death. It would have been well deserved for crime, that of poisoning wig Brandt to death by slow poisoning while engaged with him in a conspiracy to defraud an insurance company by substituting a corpse for him and collecting the policies of insurance on Brandt's grant it, and Dr. Meyer was taken back to the Tombs

Dr. Meyer prepared last night for leaving the Tombs, packing up his belongings and giving away a ich as he should never need again. He was disappointed when told that he must be reily to leave at 130 to board the 2.15 train from the Grand Central Station.

At the last moment a messenger arrived at the Tombs with orders from Sheriff Saxton, to whom Recorder Smyth had left the question, not to take Dr. Meyer to-day. Dr. Meyer had made ready, but was glad to return to his cell. Dr. Meyer looked "The Evening World" reporter square in the eye and said solemily:

"You are looking at an innocent man, although you may not believe it. I go to prison, but I shall return. I never denied the conspiracy, but I am innocent of murder. Brandt will some day turn up and my innocence will be established."

lished."
When the reporter suggested that
Mrs. Meyer would do well to offer a plea of manslaughter, second degree, Dr.
Meyer few into a rage. He declared her innocent, and was much more agitated in her behalf than over his own case.

Mrs. Meyer may never be tried for murder. That charge, so hard to convict a woman on, may be abandoned and indictments found for grand larceny, first degree. The proof is complete, and on conviction on the two counts, $1,000 from the Washington Life and $2,000 from the Washington Life and $2,000 from the New York Life Insurance Companies, she might get ten years each, for, as stated by Dr. Meyer, the conspiracy is not disputed.

Mrs. Meyer has been ill for ten days. She was prostrated when told that Dr. Meyer was to be taken to Sing Sing this afternoon. She wept hysterically, crying "that poor, poor man?" She refused to see visitors.

A Presidential Veto Once Knocked Out All Plans.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 8.-The President has signed the New York and New Jersey Bridge bill.

The New York and New Jersey Bridge bill, as it has become a law, leaves the location of the bridge subject to approval by the Secretary of War upon such examinations, hearings and reports as he shall hereafter prescribe: Provided that it shall not be located below Fifty-ninth street, New York City, nor above Sixty-ninth street, New York City.

As to the laying of railway tracks in the structure, the bill says: As to the laying of rallway tracks on the structure, the bill says:

That said companies may locate, construct and maintain over such bridge and the approaches thereto railroad tracks for the use of railroads, provided that any railroad on either side of said river shall be permitted to connect its tracks with the said bridge approaches, and shall have equal rights of transit for its rolling stock, cars, paseeners and froight upon equal and equitable terms, and if a dispute as to the equality or equity of the terms shall arise it shall be submitted to and decided by the Secretary of War; provided that the location of all approaches of said bridge in the city of New York shall be approache by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the city of New York, and provided, further, that no railroad or railroads shall be operated on the approaches of said bridge companies in the city of New York, except on such approaches as shall have been approached, as used in this act, shall be construct to include only such portion of the road-bed and superstructure on either side of said hridge as is necessary to reach the grade of the bridge from the grade of the streets at which said approaches begin to rise, in order to bright the side of not less than twenty set to the mile.

It is also provided that "any bridge built under the authority of of not less than twenty feet to the mile. It is also provided that "any bridge built under the authority of this act shall be constructed with such length of span and at such elevation as the Secretary of War shall approve and require. Provided, however, that it shall afford, under any conditions of load or temperature, a minimum clear headway above high water of Spring tides of not less than one hundred and fifty feet at the centre of the span."

A commission appointed by the President is to determine what length of span, not less than 2,000 feet, will be practicable and safe. The Secretary of War must approve changes in plans.

practicable and safe. The Secretary of War must approve changes in plans. Lights prescribed by the Lighthouse Board must be provided. Not less than $250,000 must be spent in construction the first year and $1,000,000 each year there-after.

$26,000 must be spent in construction the first year and $1,000,000 each year thereafter.

The bill has been put through only after a long struggle and in the face of an opposition which at different times included the Mayor of New York, the Chamber of Commerce, several United States Senators and Representatives in Cougress. Once a Presidential veto killed a measure which had been approved by both houses of Congress.

Much of the opposition was undoubtedly inspired by certain railroad interests, which will experience a closer competition when other railroads get through the new bridge a direct entrance into New ork. There was, however, a certain amount of honest objection to the placing of a pier in the North River to the possible injury of the river commerce. At one time, too, the bill before Congress gave the Bridge Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, and took up a number of the leases held by the Empire Company, as well as making new ones.

the bill before Congress gave the Bridge Company too much latitude as to the location of approaches and building of tracks in New York City.

At the head office of the New York and New Jersey Bridge Company, 214 Broadway, it was said to-day that the work of constructing the bridge would be begun as soon as the Secretary of Wai approved of the plans and specifications, which are already prepared.

The Company expects that it will take four years to complete the bridge and that it will cost, including approaches, $40,000,000. It will be a suspended cantiliever bridge, and will extend from a noint between Fifty-ninth and Sixty-ninth streets across the North River to a point opposite Guttenburg. It will, at the highest point, be 150 feet above water at high tide, lifteen feet higher than the present Brooklyn Bridge. It will contain six tracks and be purely a railway bridge, enabling all lines now reaching the New Jersey side to have a terminal in New York City.

A union depot, which it is expected will be one of the largest in one world, will be built, extending from Seventh to Eighth avenue and from Forty-second to Forty-fourth street. It will be 400 by 800 feet. The revenue from the bridge and depot will be derived from the railroads exclusively, as there will be no provisions for passenger traffic other than that furnished by each individual road in its own trains.

The President of the Bridge Company is John B. Kerr, Vice-President of the New York, Ontario and Western Railway, Charles H. Swan, the Secretary and Treasurer, has devoted years to the completion of the scheme, He is now in Washington, where he has been for some time in the interest of the Company.

SOME FIGURES FROM FITCH

cheaper rate of interest than Comptroller Myers, his predecessor.

Comptroller Fitch compares the five months of his administration with three years of Comptroller Myers's term, and does not allow for contingencies, such as a money panic, which may occur before the end of the year, as it did last year, when Comptroller Myers had to pay as high as 5 per cent. Interest, and money was scarce at that.

These are the figures given out by Mr. Filtch of money borrowed on revenue bonds by the city:

The body found in the river at the foot of South Ninth street, Williams-burg, yesterday, was identified this morning as that of William Van Kuran, a carpenter, of Broadway and Dahlia place.

Van Kuran was employed by W. C. Martin, a boss carpenter, of 350 Cumberliand street, Brooklyn, up to Friday bonds by the city:

Dr. Currie visited Judge Phelps this morning. He remained with the patient until about 1 P. M. for the purpose of closely watching the symptoms in the case.

Dr. Currie said Judge Phelps had intermittent fever, and was much debilitated. He denied that the patient was suffering from Bright's disease. The doctor said that although Judge Phelps did not have a strong constitution, there would be a chance of his recovery if he was not attacked by a hemorrhage.
